

Triumph Motorcycles Makes Its Tiger An Even Better Value

Quick-Detach Hard Bags Are Now Standard

ONTARIO (March 1, 2010) – Triumph's Tiger 1050 motorcycle has earned accolades for its performance, comfort and style. Now the Tiger's more versatile than ever with the detachable locking hard bags included as standard equipment on every new 2010 model.

"The Tiger is a great year-round motorcycle and very well-suited to different types of riding, so it's not surprising the quick detach hard bags were a popular option," said Chris Ellis, General Manager of Canadian Operations for Triumph Motorcycles. "That's why the locking hard bags are now standard equipment on all 2010 Tigers."

Comfort has always been a Tiger trait; both rider and passenger benefit from great ergonomics, excellent wind protection, and rubber mounted handle bars and foot pegs. Optional heated grips and additional luggage capacity also contribute to a fantastic year-round sport touring machine.

Triumph's innovative 1050cc three-cylinder engine powers the Tiger with 113hp at 9,400rpm and 74 ft. lbs. of torque at 6,250rpm through a six-speed transmission. An adjustable sport suspension and 120 front/180 rear sport tires mounted on 17-inch wheels are combined with powerful Nissin brakes for exceptional, confidence-inspiring handling.

The 2010 Triumph Tiger ABS is available Black and Fusion White for an MSRP starting at only c$13,999. Triumph also offers a Limited Edition Tiger 1050abs SE model in Matte Graphite and Black which includes the special two-tone paint, hard bags and hand guards for c$14,599 while quantities last.
