Combining classic touring cruiser style with the awesome performance of the legendary 2.3-liter Rocket III engine, the Rocket III Touring has been designed specifically for riders who demand serious long-haul capabilities.

At the heart of the Rocket III Touring is Triumph's iconic 2,294cc triple, which has been tuned specifically for the needs of the touring rider. The engine delivers a mighty 150 lb-ft. of torque through the low-maintenance shaft drive system at just 2000rpm. Overtaking in any gear is safe and effortless, even when fully laden with passenger and luggage. Triumph has also endowed the Rocket III Touring with its advanced anti-lock braking system, offering additional security for riders whatever the conditions.

The Rocket III Touring's chassis has been developed specifically for its intended purpose and helps deliver a surprisingly nimble ride, thanks to the low center of gravity, 16" wheels and 180 section rear tire. Rider and passenger comfort is paramount with the Rocket III Touring. The well-appointed seat is constructed using two separate layers of cushioning of different densities, with the pillion also benefiting from an additional gel layer for supreme comfort and "day long" capability. The finely tuned suspension has been developed with comfort and control in mind, while practicality is enhanced with the standard fitment of a quick-release screen and 36-liter saddlebags.

The high specification continues with the adoption of an analog fuel gauge and LCD clock and trip computer, all mounted alongside the speedometer in the stylish tank-mounted chrome nacelle.

Teardrop-shaped rider and passenger footboards are also standard features, while a long list of optional fittings allows riders to create the Rocket III Touring they want. Accessories include alternative touring screens, sissy bars, racks and auxiliary lighting, as well as a host of chrome and leather items to make this already distinctive motorcycle even more striking.

The Triumph Rocket III Touring comes in two classic color options: metallic Phantom Black with hand-painted silver coachlines or a two-tone Phantom Black with Crystal White infills and gold coachlines.
